OVERVIEW

sportforbusiness.com

Sport for Business is a membership organisation which draws together the various important strands of the commercial world of sport in Ireland.

We produce a daily news digest which is distributed to over 4,000 leaders, influencers, administrators, sponsors, society and political operatives.

Our content includes news and analysis of all areas where sport and business cross over. We have specific columns and features on key areas from sponsorship and media to research and participation, from our 30 Under 30 Young Leaders of Tomorrow to our annual focus on Sport for Social Good and list of 50 Women of Influence in Irish Sport

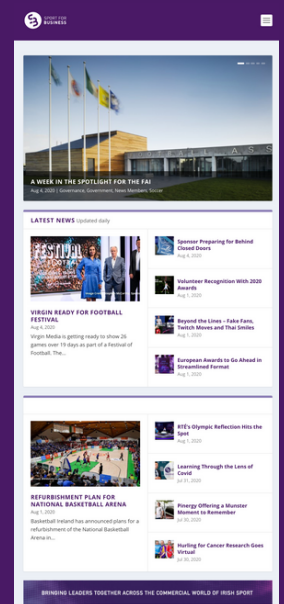

"Love the passion for what matters. "It's where I want to see my story most."

We run a comprehensive programme of what was and will be live events but is for now taking place in the virtual world.

These events bring together our community of members in a way that is trusted, appreciated and which makes a real difference to how sport is managed and run.

FEATURES AND PROJECTS THAT WORK

We work with our member organisations to deliver projects that work in the areas that matter most to them and to our wider community.

Feature content series that are designed to provide valuable information and secure a reputation as opinion formers and leaders in a particular field include our Sport for Social Good series, report and event with Allianz; our Ireland's Olympians series with Indeed and our Women of Influence series with AIG..

Our video interviews each day provide digital and social content that is seen and appreciated by 1000's of viewers.

"The feedback was fantastic. The whole team really enjoyed it. Our best session of the year."

A WIDER VOICE

We appear regularly across mainstream media outlets to discuss different aspects of the commercial world of Irish sport.

We can often represent the views of member sponsors and sporting bodies in challenging circumstances.

The understanding we gather from the strong relationship we build with our members places us in a strong position to represent them.

MAKING MEMBERSHIP WORK

We work with you to make our partnership work best.

This can be through a mix of news coverage, keynote interviews and thought leadership that positions you as an influential voice in the commercial world of Irish sport.

Gold Members will have attribution as sponsors of a key, relevant sector for a period of time included as part of their membership.

"A greater understanding of how sport and business work together than in any other media."

We bring together members that have mutual benefit to be gained from working together, but who might otherwise prove difficult to reach in a meaningful fashion.

We also serve to educate those coming into, or rising through the industry with what they need to know to stay ahead of the game.
